

In our view, the lack of material funding for external conditions such as the inability of the company to provide the necessary resources for implementation due to delays in the disbursement of abstracts or directing revenue for other projects.