

within a company assist top management in top-level issues such as developing the personnel aspects of the company's long-term strategic plan.