Cats are famous for their elegant and self-reliant nature, which distinguishes them from other animals.My neighbor, for example, trained her cat to help her navigate her house safely despite her visual impairment.In addition to their practical benefits, cats can be trained to assist people with disabilities, demonstrating their adaptability and usefulness.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com