

There is little research on how technostress, nursing informatics competency, and emotional intelligence among nurses.