

The slide observed showed that the bacteria was stained blue with very light tints of pink. The Gram staining method is a technique that was invented by a Danish bacteriologist Hans Christian Joachim Gram in 1884 to classify bacteria into two major classes, that is gram positive bacteria and gram negative bacteria. Klebsiella aerogenes and Escherichia coli are gram negative bacteria.