

Meeting a New Person Hello. I can answer a lot of questions, but I am far from being an expert speaker. I am not the best speaker myself, but I study a lot so that I do well on all of our tests in class at least. The teacher gave us that story in English to translate. I have translated most of it, and with a little studying, I am sure that we can figure out the rest together. You are the new student in our English language class, right? We all really love it when new members join our class. Yes, I am a new member of that class. It is my first time taking an English language class, so I am a little worried that I will not do well. You seem to speak English well enough already. Sure.
