Advertising uses publicity to sell companies' and investors' products. It's defined as the art of making people desire goods and services.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com