Employees from cultures with collectivist values tend to prioritize group unity and loyalty; employees from cultures with individualistic values tend to prioritize personal achievements and progress.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com