

Planning the housing of fans for the upcoming 2034 World Cup in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia: As we said, we can learn from Qatar and also develop from their experience: The Higher Projects Committee worked to provide distinctive accommodation with different options, including: villas, apartments, fan villages, floating hotels, holiday homes, in addition to accommodation with family and friends, and they are fully equipped and range between 3–5 star categories, which gives more options. Al-Raya was keen to meet with Omar Abdul Rahman Al-Jaber – Executive Director of the Housing Department at the Supreme Committee for Delivery and Legacy – in order to talk about the latest developments and accommodation options available to the public in detail, while getting closer to hosting the world on Qatar. For fans to live an unforgettable experience, especially in light of the great demand from fans to book tickets and accommodation.
