

Collaboration Collaborating with team members can be beneficial to your work environment by building stronger relationships through shared experiences and cooperative efforts. When working individually, you may still have frequent interactions with your coworkers but without working as closely with them.