In summary, while focusing on academic subjects is crucial for educational achievement and career readiness, extracurricular activities play an equally important role in developing essential life skills and personal growth.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com