

the country has never allocated sufficient resources to housing and only radical change in social priorities will ensure that everyone can live in a decent home says the report, it sees no early solution ,