

Last winter, I went on a camping holiday to the desert in the United Arab Emirates with a group of close friends. During the day, we indulged in thrilling activities like dune bashing in 4x4 vehicles, sandboarding down the steep slopes, and exploring the desert on camelback. We decided to explore the vast desert landscape near Liwa Oasis, known for its stunning dunes and serene beauty. Packed with our camping gear, food supplies, and plenty of water, we embarked on our adventure.
