

The importance of English lies in being the official language of fifty-three countries, making it one of the most spoken languages in the world, with 400 million people speaking it, so mastering it is a real opportunity to communicate with this number of new people.