

Hello everyone, my name is Joud and my ID number is 2405447, Today I will tell you about one of the most important problems you may have Any president worked with his employees, which is the problem of employees who are not happy with their work and do not work hard. One solution with unhappy employees is that when employees getting fair pay for their work and also getting bonuses makes them satisfied and do their work great. And there is another solution as well which is a positive work environment, that's can help solve the problem of employee unhappiness, as it motivates employees to complete their work and work hard, especially when they work in a good and positive team. We need to find solutions to prevent this.
