

Facebook is a website that was officially launched on February 4, 2004 AD, and it is used for social communication and is considered the most popular and popular social network on the Internet, as the number of active users on it by the year 2012 reached nearly one billion users, and this site allows the ability to share photos , In addition to sharing the case, and is available on a daily basis in a regular manner, so that the new user does not have difficulty understanding it, thanks to its ability to attract individual users, in addition to its ability to interact with websites, by providing a login One that works across multiple sites. Facebook also gives users access to games