

When you are exchanging one currency for another, currency exchange fees are always involved. Banks charge this fee for performing the service of exchanging the currency in your hand to another foreign currency you need. This fee is also charged when you want to send foreign currency to your friend or close relative staying abroad. A one world currency will solve this problem.