

Food is served to customers using clean utensils and suitable serving equipment. Employees should avoid touching ready-to-eat food with bare hands and should maintain good personal hygiene.