

So, these five smart thinking skills – getting knowledge, understanding, checking things, using knowledge, and explaining – make a complete plan for making good choices.