This project was created to identify the changes that occur in self-concept and body image during adolescence, how these changes affect individuals and to try to help them overcome them