

Over two decades, technology has been changing lives and has become an essential part of everyday life for many people. The rapid usage of smartphones for entertainment, personal, business, educational and other purpose makes it an integral part of life (Alson & Misagal, 2016). Technology has transformed the cell phone usage, especially on smartphones.