

Multiculturalism is a human identity that must be understood and included in education. Through literature, students can understand the cultural and social concepts that follow the history of writing. Literature is the form and result of a beautiful creativity that takes people and life as materials and uses language as a tool. Understanding life through the study of knowledge is strongly linked to the leadership of each region and country. Reading can be used to understand life as it shows how useful life is but the student does not want to teach.
