

Communication is very important. there are many forms of communication such as mobile phones, email, social networks, blogs, video calls and online chat. Sites like Facebook, Twitter and Instagram allow people to connect with friends and family