

A man decided to leave his country to another country to do the impossible to make his family happy. He was lonely and sad.