

Veles is the Slavic deity of pastures, fields, forests and animals. Although Veles was considered to be a mischievous one due to his constant feuds with Perun, the deity of thunder, he was still worshiped across the lands for successful hunt and bountiful crops.