

the preservation and modernization of the global model, Kahneman worked to repeat the basic role of the first system to clarify what is common to it. The second time a bug exists, people become less surprised and are visibly visibly. Kahneman gives an example when he and his wife saw a burning car while they were in Princeton, and after several weeks they saw a burning car in the same location, and Kahneman expects in the future to see a burning car when they arrive at the same site.
