

Advantages A diverse staff contributes to higher production of products and services, and a variety of viewpoints and solutions. Also, the company can be perceived as a company that supports diversity. Ideas are generated on a global scale. It also looks good to future clients and customers and can attract good workers.