

Is an important fundamental step in providing medical care to properly diagnose The patient condition and develop the property treatment plan