

This motion is a result of the collisions of the particles with other fast-moving particles in the fluid.