

Abstract -- An extension of model reference adaptive control is presented that accommodates use of a time-varying reference model. Tracking error convergence is asymptotic when time variation ceases.