Big cities in the states are the worst choice for living.Large cities impose their living conditions on the people who inhabit them so people are forced to adopt an unusual way of life.Furthermore, it seems impossible to avoid the rush hour when all roads are blocked with cars and streets are filled with One reason is that it can people.