

The following healthy lifestyle modifications can prevent pancreatic disorders and other associated conditions as well as improve your overall digestive health: Include plenty of whole grains, fruits and vegetables, especially broccoli, cauliflower or cabbage, to keep your diet low in fat. As with any disease, catching pancreatic cancer in its early stages can help prevent cancerous cells from increasing and spreading. Get your pancreas checked regularly.