

Documentation Every programming language and every technology has a documentation. As technologies change fast, a good programmer is constantly aware about the newest tech, always ready and eager to learn new languages and explore new technologies #daretolearn Free to reach out to Ben if you have any more questions about programming or would like to know more about a coding related topic Connect with him on LinkedIn. YouTube tutorials -> A great way to learn and easier for beginners, than learning directly from documentations.