

Supermarkets are retail stores that sell a wide variety of products including household goods, electronics, clothing and, more. To enhance tangible interest and attract customers.