

My Best Friend I met my best friend at school when we where 14. My friend was very shy and hadn't made many friends. The good thing with us and that's what kept us up to this time together is the respect between us and we both know our boundaries. We've been friends for long and now I see him more like my brother. My dad had been transferred from another town (he was a teacher) and I had to start at a new school.
