

The Order-to-Payment Cycle The heart of the internal records system is the order-to-payment cycle. Shipped items generate shipping and billing documents that go to various departments. The sales department prepares invoices, transmits copies to various departments, and back-orders out-of-stock items.