

"He was a dear, grateful, gentle child, sir," retorted Mrs. Bedwin, indignantly. As it elicited nothing from that gentleman but a smile, the old lady tossed her head, and smoothed down her apron preparing to make another speech, when she was stopped by Mr. Brownlow. This was a hard hit at Mr. Grimwig, who was a bachelor. "Silence!"