

recent years, Karary College clinics have witnessed great development, but there is an ongoing problem related to students' performance in clinics. Despite efforts to solve this problem, current solutions are still insufficient.