In this case, it can be seen that the international strategy was founded on global standardization and local adaptation.For instance, in Asia, compact and feature rich products are noticeable strategic business unit focus whereas in Western markets, company emphasis on Sony products performance and quality.Most of the global ventures where Sony ventured where through the use of joint ventures, acquisitions and partnerships.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com