

In a small village in Turkey, Sam and his family lived in one of the neighborhoods of Trabzon. Trabzon is characterized by its extremely cold weather and strong winds. Some Trabzon residents said that it is an area exposed to sea waves that reach 12 foot. Immediately, they decided to leave the house and head to Istanbul. Finally, they found a dwelling to rent at a reasonable price, but they still wish to return to their home and pray to God to preserve their home. One cold night, Sam heard a very sharp whistling sound coming from the window.
