

Agreement is an essential element of contracts, but not all agreements are contracts.– Contracts are valid when there is a lawful consideration (lawful exchange, or something in return). There is no misrepresentation of information.