

Municipal fire hydrant systems and large-scale industrial fire protection systems often use ductile iron pipes.