

Critical thinking is the process of analyzing, evaluating, and synthesizing information in order to make informed decisions.