

In order to obtain anaerobic treatment of wastewater in more concentrated wastewater streams. The carbon gas produced consists mainly of 70% methane (CH₄) and 30% carbon dioxide (CO₂), with small amounts of other gases available.