

Developing a successful marketing plan requires a comprehensive analysis and careful planning process. First, analyze the current situation by conducting a SWOT analysis to identify strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and risks.