

i never saw any place the position of which struck me as so magnificent as that of constantine it is built on a high plateau round which rushes a rapid river called the rhumel. it is called by the arabs 'beled-el-haoua' (the city of the air)