

Methods: It was intended to observe the following patient accounts and a little medical information and had been developed so that she was concentrated on the patient's bug and became the data arranged by her relationship with all the disease complaining about it, and in the 1980s the medical records had started to take their modern image through its linkage and integration with the hospital information systems and their multiple medical data..