

Treatment of excess acid Excess acid production can almost always be controlled. These are effective medicines for controlling acid production in Zollinger–Ellison syndrome. Proton pump inhibitors are powerful acid–reducing medicines. Medicines known as proton pump inhibitors are the first line of treatment.