

A Close Call Emma was driving home late at night when another car ran a red light. She slammed on the brakes, but it was too late--both cars collided.