

There were so many things to see that Alex needed a break from looking at them, so she went upstairs for a cup of tea. The Great Pharaoh's Secret Box The security guard rushed in from the next room. "The case doesn't even look damaged." "Well, of course not," snapped Alex. cried Alex, leaping up and almost knocking her cup off the table. she yelled. 10000 EXIT "The Great Pharaoh's secret box has been taken!" Alex shrieked at him. The guard stared at the case and then back at Alex. "He wouldn't need to break the glass!" There was something very odd about that man downstairs. "No!"